Overview of the Series 7 Exam

The Series 7 exam is a licensing test administered by the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA) for aspiring general securities representatives. Passing this exam qualifies candidates to sell a broad range of securities products, including stocks, bonds, options, and mutual funds. The exam is a critical step for professionals seeking to work in brokerage firms or investment advisory roles.

The test consists of 125 multiple-choice questions, and candidates have 225 minutes to complete it. A minimum score of 72% is required to pass. The exam covers both regulatory knowledge and practical application of securities trading, customer accounts, and industry standards. Staying informed about the exam structure and requirements is fundamental for effective preparation.

Exam Format and Structure

The Series 7 exam is divided into four main job functions, each representing a percentage of the total questions:

- Function 1: Seeks Business for the Broker-Dealer from Customers and Potential Customers (7%)
- Function 2: Opens Accounts After Obtaining and Evaluating Customers' Financial Profile and Investment Objectives (9%)
- Function 3: Provides Customers with Information About Investments, Makes Suitable Recommendations, Transfers Assets and Maintains Appropriate Records (73%)
- Function 4: Obtains and Verifies Customers' Purchase and Sales Instructions and Agreements; Processes, Completes, and Confirms Transactions (11%)

Understanding this breakdown helps candidates allocate study time effectively, focusing more on the heavily weighted sections.
