Understanding Behavioral Interview Questions

Behavioral interview questions are designed to reveal how candidates have acted in specific situations in the past. This approach is based on the premise that previous behavior is the best predictor of future behavior in similar contexts. Instead of hypothetical queries, these questions require detailed responses about real experiences, focusing on actions taken and outcomes achieved. They typically begin with prompts like "Tell me about a time when..." or "Give an example of how you handled..." Candidates are expected to describe the context, their role, the actions they implemented, and the results. Mastering the top 100 behavioral interview questions involves understanding this format and preparing structured answers using techniques such as the STAR method (Situation, Task, Action, Result).
