Tips for Sending Your Save the Dates

Once you have selected your perfect Vera Wang save the date design, it's time to prepare for sending them out. Here are some tips to ensure everything goes smoothly:

1. Timing is Key

Aim to send out save the dates 6-8 months before your wedding date. For destination weddings, consider sending them out even earlier.

2. Finalize Your Guest List

Before sending out save the dates, ensure that your guest list is finalized. This will help avoid any awkward situations if changes are made after sending them.

3. Include Essential Information

Make sure to include the following information on your save the date:

- Names of the couple
- Wedding date
- Location (city or venue)
- A note indicating that a formal invitation will follow

4. Consider the Format

Decide whether you want to send physical cards or digital versions, keeping in mind your budget and guest preferences.

5. Personal Touch

Adding a personal note or a fun fact about your relationship can make the save the date feel more special.
